

ZOE SEME

LITTLE THEATRE, SHERINGHAM

After studying A level Drama at Paston College, Zoe decided against full-time study for a degree as she wasn't sure of her career direction. She knew that she liked to be active and had enjoyed PE and outside pursuits.

Zoe Seme is working towards a Level 3 Apprenticeship Events' Assistant qualification.

The drama teacher at Zoe's school suggested that she apply for seasonal work at the Little Theatre in Sheringham to gain experience in theatre production and events' management. Zoe very much enjoyed her time there and the roles she carried out. After demonstrating her talent, theatre director Debbie Thompson, offered Zoe the opportunity to be employed as an apprentice.

Zoe has no regrets about the direction she has taken and enjoys the variety of tasks that she carries out at the theatre, working behind the scenes for performances and special events. It's early days for Zoe to know what she wants to do next, but she thinks that when she has completed the apprenticeship, she would like to gain experience in a bigger venue in a city. She realises it can be daunting to start something new, but her attitude is to "just go for it"!

For information about careers in the Visitor Economy visit: visitnorthnorfolk.com/information/careers